Bad For the Business. "Yes, I had to let him go," replied the boss barber to the regular customer when the latter asked an explanation of the absence of his pet barber. "Why?" "Well, he insisted on rate-g whisk-

"Raising whiskers? Great Scott! Isn't this a free country, where a man may raise whiskers if he so chooses?" "Yes, this is a free country, and a man can do pretty much as he likes, but there's one thing he can't do and work for me, and that's it."

"Why do you object?" "For three reasons. The first is that he was a rather cross looking fellow anyway. Whiskers would make him look crosser. In the second place, to raise whiskers it would be necessary for him to look like a Weary Willie for two or three weeks. In the third place-and this is reason enough, even if there were no other-if he should succeed in raising a good looking beard, he would set an example that might be followed by some customers. The result would be that instead of getting shaved three or four times a week, or even every day, they would content themselves with getting their whiskers trimmed once a fortnight or once a week. Such a move would seriously affect the each box and for that reason is not to be tolerated.

"How many barbers have you seen wearing beards? Every barber realizes the force of my objection. Oh, yes, every man has constitutional rights that all should observe. So have I."-St. Louis Star.

Thomas Jefferson as a Letter Writer. Mr. Jefferson probably wrote more letters with his own hand than any other public man that ever lived. The extent of his correspondence may be inferred from the fact that 26,000 letters neatly folded and briefed were preserved by him and found carefully filed away at the time of his death, with copies of the replies sent to more than 16,000. These, however, were only a small portion of his correspondence, as he retained only those he considered of future usefulness or impor-

Stenography was not invented at that time. Every one of his letters was written with his own hand and with great care, although after breaking his wrist while minister to France it became a great labor to him. His penmanship was small, plain and legible, every letter being perfectly formed, and als account books are kept in so small a hand that many of the pages to be read without a magnifying glass.

The read without a magnifying glass.

Jefferson was ambidextrous. He could write equally well with either hand. When his wrist was broken, he learned to write with his left hand, which became as skillful as the other. It would have been impossible for him to have carried on his extensive correspondence without being able to re-Heve his right hand at intervals.-Chicago Record.

Divided the Remedy.

The Philadelphia Record tells a story of a physician of that city who was called to see an old Irishman and his wife, down with colds. He advised quinine and whisky as an antidote. "You must both take it," he said. "Take it every three hours-two grains of quinine and a swallow of whisky." The next day he called again. The man was up and about, but his wife was in bed. "Did you follow my instructions?" asked the doctor. "To the letther," replied the hus-

"How much quinine have you left?" was the next question. "Sure, Ol t'ink she have taken th' whole av it," said the man. "And didn't you take it, too?" asked the doctor.

"Divil th' bit," was the reply. "Begorrah, it kept me busy takin th' whisky every toime she took a pill, an sure she's in bed an Oi'm up.'

George W. Lane, Pewamo, Mich., writes:
"Your Kodel Dyspepsia Cure is the best remedy for indigestion and stomach trouble that I ever used. For years I suffered from dyspepsia, at times compelling me to stay in bed and causing me untold agony. I am completely cured by Kodel Dyspepsia Cure. In recommending it to friends who suffer from indige tion I always offer to pay for it if it fails. Thus far I have never psid." For sale by E. S. Leadb ster & Sons.
